

ANN-KRISTIN PORTH

RESEARCH ASSISTANT (PHD)

Born on March 29, 1991, near Hamburg, Germany, I am passionate about transforming healthcare into a more person-centered and gender-sensitive system, aiming to improve the well-being of both patients and healthcare professionals alike.

 06764625684

 ann-kristin.porth@meduniwien.ac.at orcid.org/0000-0001-7651-2967

INTERESTS

Qualitative research
Consensus work
Patient-reported outcomes
Health behaviour
Health promotion

PHD THESIS

Person-centered diabetes care: Ideas for practical application

LANGUAGE

German Native
English Fluent
French Very good
Portuguese Good

EXPERIENCE

Medical University Vienna 2021 - today

Research assistant

Pre-doctoral researcher at the Division of Endocrinology and Metabolism and Gender Medicine Unit. Country coordinator for the diabetes group of the Innovative Medicine Initiative Health Outcomes Observatory project.

Ordination Dr. Pecnik, Vienna 2019 - 2021

Medical Assistant

Reception, appointment coordination and pre-examination of patients, with a focus on Type 2 diabetes.

Klinikum Rechts der Isar, Munich; UniversitätsSpital Zurich; Sana Klinikum Lichtenberg, Berlin 2018 - 2019

Medical Intern (KPJ)

Training in General, pediatric and trauma surgery, Internal medicine, and Anaesthesiology and intensive care

Technical University Munich 2019 - 2021

Research assistant

Assistant researcher at the Clinic of RadioOncology and Radiotherapy. Pre-clinical in-vivo and in-vitro work with animal models and cell culture.

EDUCATION

2021 - today
Medical University Vienna
PhD program N094 Endocrinology and Metabolism

PhD applicant

2021
TUM Graduate School
Dr. med.
Dissertation: Effects of in vivo X-ray microbeam radiation therapy at a compact light source on human hypopharyngeal carcinoma cells (FaDu)

2019
Technical University Munich
M.D.
Study of human medicine
International semesters at Universidade Federal da Bahia, Brasil and Universidade de Lisboa, Portugal